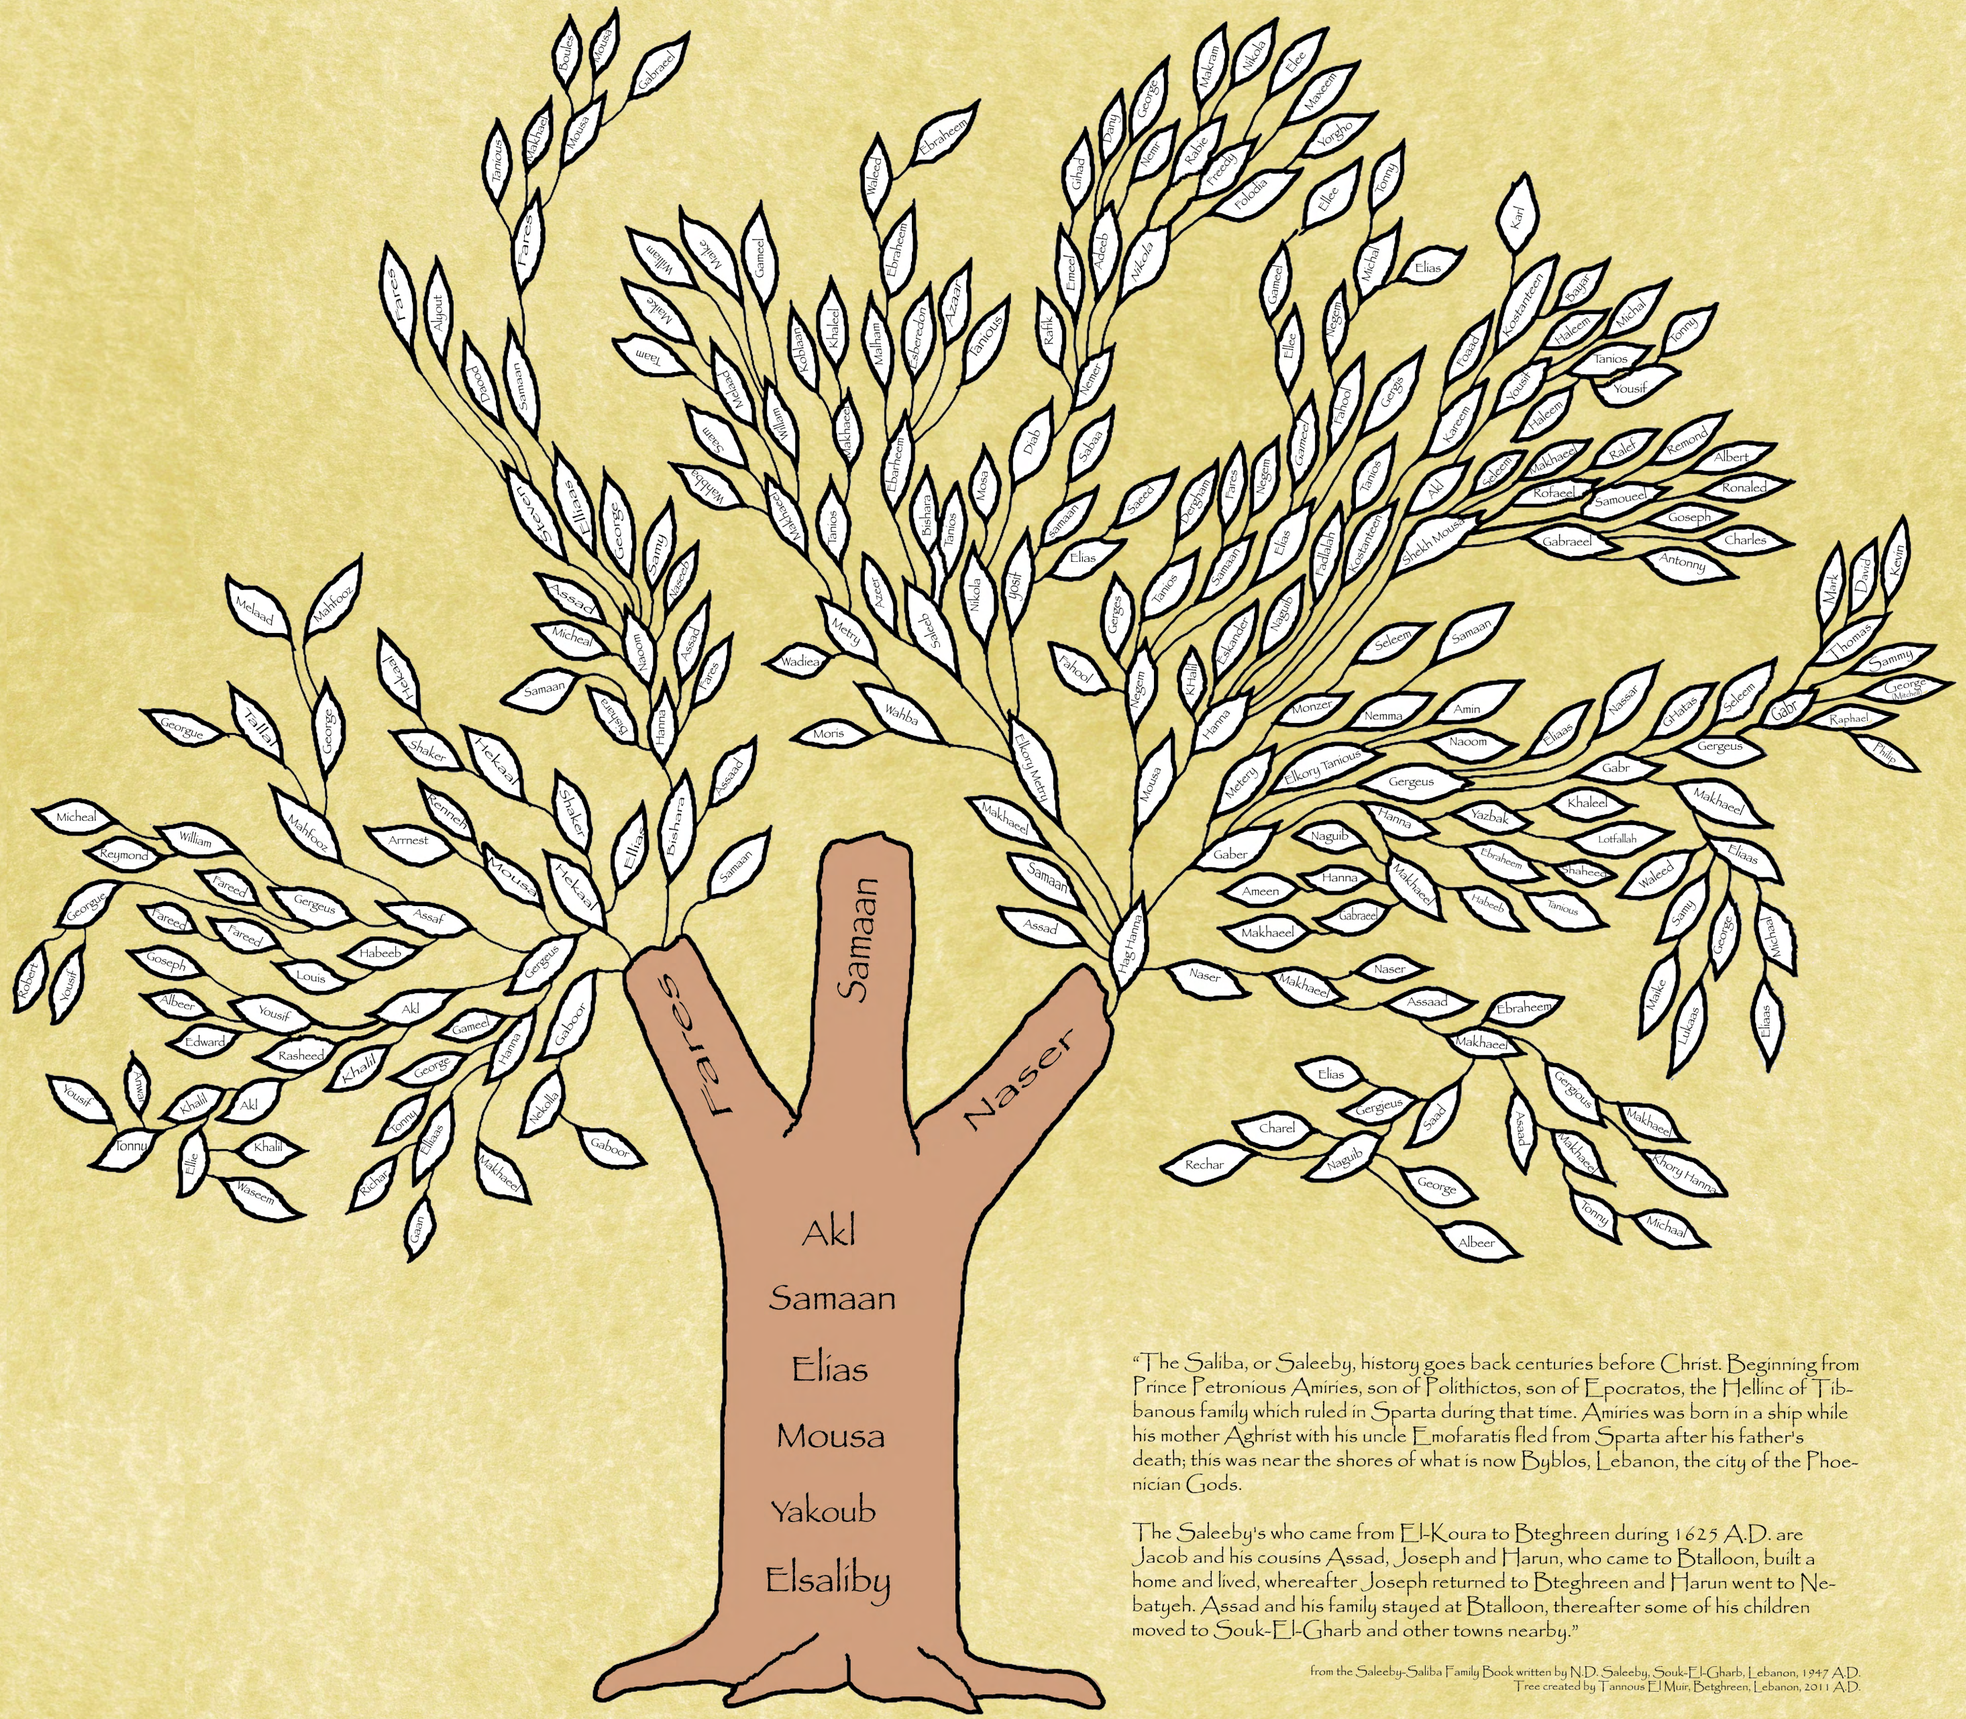
Saliba Family Tree



"The Saliba, or Saleeby, history goes back centuries before Christ. Beginning from Prince Petronious Amiries, son of Polithictos, son of Epocratos, the Hellinc of Tibbanous family which ruled in Sparta during that time. Amiries was born in a ship while his mother Aghrist with his uncle Emofaratis fled from Sparta after his father's death; this was near the shores of what is now Byblos, Lebanon, the city of the Phoenician Gods.

The Saleeby's who came from El-Koura to Bteghreen during 1625 A.D. are Jacob and his cousins Assad, Joseph and Harun, who came to Btalloon, built a home and lived, whereafter Joseph returned to Bteghreen and Harun went to Nebatyeh. Assad and his family stayed at Btalloon, thereafter some of his children moved to Souk-El-Gharb and other towns nearby."

from the Saleeby-Saliba Family Book written by N.D. Saleeby, Souk-El-Gharb, Lebanon, 1947 A.D.
Tree created by Tannous El Muir, Betghreen, Lebanon, 2011 A.D.